

Outline

The table (especially the leg part when seen from the longitude direction of the table) looks like a samurai standing in full dress. Strong and innocent—the concept the designers put in this collection. The grooves of the leg part, expressing the folds of samurai attire, become deeper as they go down so that it looks more expanding and stable. The table is available in square or round shape, and the bench shows up more especially when more than one are lined up at a big hall.

Uzukuri Finish:	*this is an option to finish the solid table's top with a "floating " effect (excluding round tables.) This traditional Japanese technique enhances the natural grain of the solid wood, adding depth and a robust character. Grain

- Random match
- Wood planks or veneer sheets are joined at random, of which expressive surface patterns require craftspeople for high skills and an eye for beauty.
- Book match
- Two pieces of wood planks or veneer sheets with similar surface patterns are arranged side by side to look like a book opened, which makes surface patterns look more dynamic by grains running symmetrically.
